Theatre Arts and Performance Studies

Chair
Patricia Ybarra

The Department of Theatre Arts and Performance Studies is the intellectual and artistic center at Brown for faculty and students interested in the aesthetic, historical, literary, practical, and theoretical explorations of performance in global perspective – theatre, dance, speech, performance art, and performative “roles” in everyday life. The Department’s distinguished faculty consists of leading scholars and artists who are at the forefront in researching and teaching new and innovative methodologies produced by the intersection of the study of craft and the study of history and theory.

Every season, the Department mounts both theatre and dance productions along with a multitude of special events. Students are active in every aspect of production - learning the rigors of craft through participation in production as well as through class work in acting and directing, dance, playwriting, movement, history, theory, design, technical theatre, intermedial performance, and performance ethnography.

For additional information, please visit the department's website: http://www.brown.edu/academics/theatre-arts-performance-studies/

Theatre Arts and Performance Studies Concentration Requirements

The Department of Theatre Arts and Performance Studies (TAPS) is the intellectual and artistic center for the aesthetic, historical, literary, practical, and theoretical explorations of performance in global perspective – theatre, dance, speech, time-based art, and even performative “roles” in everyday life. The TAPS concentration offers three tracks with many points of overlap among them: Performance Studies, Theatre Arts, and Dance. Concentrators gain exposure to a broad spectrum of performance modes and methods – acting, directing, dance, and writing, and choose an avenue of focus among them. In addition, TAPS concentrators with an interest in socially engaged performance that tackles complex social issues may pursue the Engaged Scholars Program (https://www.brown.edu/academics/theatre-arts-performance-studies/undergraduate-program/engaged-scholars-program). Everyone graduating having studied craft, gained familiarity with history, and investigated the role of performance arts in culture.

Students who declared their concentration prior to fall 2019 can find their concentration requirements here: https://bulletin.brown.edu/archive/2018-19/the-college/concentrations/taps/

Theatre Arts Track

This concentration combines the study of dramatic literature, theatre history, performance theory, and studio work in the various theatre arts. All concentrators in Theatre Arts will gain practical experience through the study of acting and directing as well as in the technical production of plays, preparing students in the practical study of a cross-section of the vital aspects of theatre craft, including one class in either dance or speech. An essential aim of the concentration track is the engagement of students in the study of performance behavior that articulates culture, negotiates difference, constructs identity, and transmits collective historical traditions and memories. Because Performance Studies concentration is not primarily invested in one performance mode over another (such as theatre or dance), a concentrator will gain exposure to a broad spectrum of performance modes. Studying ritual, play, game, festival, spectacle and a broad spectrum of “performance behaviors” under the umbrella of Performance Studies, a concentrator will graduate having investigated the role of performance in culture, including performative acts in everyday life, political enactment, ritual behavior, aesthetic or representational practices, and social role or the performance of subjectivity. The history of aesthetic performance practices (such as the histories of theatre and/or dance) will be an important part of this track, serving to ground inquiry into the broader spectrum of performance study. Students will craft their electives on this track from a wide selection of courses, both within the Department of Theatre Arts and Performance Studies and across the university. The study of performance behavior across mediums such as dance, theatre, ritual, and orature allows for geographic and historical flexibility as not all cultures perceive theatre from dance, nor, historically, genres of religious or political ritual from genres of entertainment, play, or game. At least one of the ten required classes must show geographic or cultural breadth, and be approved as such by the undergraduate concentration advisor. Participation in practical classes in modes of performance is also required.

Students wishing to enroll as concentrators in Theatre Arts and Performance Studies and take the Performance Studies track should see the undergraduate Theatre Arts track advisor, in order to discuss options that will best serve their interests.

TAPS 0700 Introduction to Theatre, Dance and Performance 1

One of the following: 1

TAPS 0220 Persuasive Communication
TAPS 0230 Acting
TAPS 0250 Introduction to Technical Theatre and Production
TAPS 1230 Global Theatre and Performance: Paleolithic to the Threshold of Modernity 1
TAPS 1240 Performance Historiography and Theatre History
TAPS 1250 Twentieth-Century Western Theatre and Performance

Theatre Studies electives: 4 elective courses, one of which must be theory, history, or literature chosen in consultation with the advisor according to the area of interest (i.e., acting, direction, playwriting, design/technical theatre). Additionally, following consultation with the advisor, one of the electives may be taken outside the TAPS department.

Performance Studies Track

The Performance Studies track in the Theatre Arts and Performance Studies concentration offers a base for students interested in a variety of performance forms, performance media, or in intermedial art. A concentrator in this track will study the multiple modes in which live performance articulates culture, negotiates difference, constructs identity, and transmits collective historical traditions and memories. Because Performance Studies is not primarily invested in one performance mode over another (such as theatre or dance), a concentrator will gain exposure to a broad spectrum of performance modes. Studying ritual, play, game, festival, spectacle and a broad spectrum of “performance behaviors” under the umbrella of Performance Studies, a concentrator will graduate having investigated the role of performance in culture, including performative acts in everyday life, political enactment, ritual behavior, aesthetic or representational practices, and social role or the performance of subjectivity. Dance Track

The Dance track of the Theatre Arts and Performance Studies concentration engages students in the study of dance, movement, and other forms of kinesthetic performance. Emphasizing dance technique, choreography/composition, and theories and histories of global forms of dance practice, concentrators in this track will study how multiple global dance forms articulate culture, negotiate difference, construct identity, and transmit collective historical traditions. Concentrators will receive instruction in composition and technique, and engage with dance, theatre, and performance production within the department to understand dance practice, concentration engages students in the study of dance, movement, and performance production within the department to understand dance within a network of performance practices.

- TAPS 0700 Introduction to Theatre, Dance and Performance
- Critical Topics and Global Perspectives - three courses. Students should work with their advisor to ensure their courses offer theoretical and geographic breadth. Courses could include, for example:
  - TAPS 0210 Dancing the African Diaspora
  - TAPS 1230 Global Theatre and Performance: Paleolithic to the Threshold of Modernity
  - TAPS 1240 Performance Historiography and Theatre History
  - TAPS 1250 Twentieth-Century Western Theatre and Performance
  - TAPS 1281W Artists and Scientists as Partners
  - TAPS 1281Q Introduction to Dance Studies
  - TAPS 1330 Dance History: The 20th Century
  - TAPS 1425 Queer Performance
  - TAPS 1630 Performativity and the Body: Staging Gender, Staging Race
  - MUSC 1971 Digital Media and Virtual Performance

Techniques of the Body - two courses selected in consultation with an advisor, such as the following:
- TAPS 0310 Beginning Modern Dance
- TAPS 0330 Mande Dance, Music and Culture
- TAPS 0930C The Actor’s Instrument: Stage Movement for Actors and Directors
- TAPS 1000 Intermediate Dance
- TAPS 1310 Advanced Modern Dance
- TAPS 1340 Dance Styles

For all concentrators, regardless of track:

In cases where dual concentrations are declared, the Department allows two courses to be counted toward both concentrations.

Capstone

Each student will complete a capstone project by the second semester of the senior year. The purpose of this capstone is to synthesize the core tenets of theory and practice in our concentration learning objectives and to reflect on that synthesis. The following projects, completed in semesters 6, 7, and 8, qualify as a capstone:

- A senior slot production and a 5-page capstone reflection
- An honors thesis
- An engaged scholarship project and a 5-page capstone reflection
- Extension of an existing curricular, co-curricular, or extra-curricular project from the junior year or first semester senior year and a 5-page capstone reflection.
- Revision or expansion of an existing final paper from any prior class and a 5-page capstone reflection.
- Major participation in a non-departmental campus production, performance or academic event (i.e., student produced work at PW, etc., an event at the Granoff, etc.) and a 5-page capstone reflection
- The 5-page reflection will contain the following:
  - A brief description of the project completed, including details about who, when, and where the project took place (i.e., which class the paper was originally written for, where the show was produced, how you revised the paper, directed the production, etc.)
  - An examination of how you used knowledge acquired in the concentration to conceptualize, do, and complete the project with a frank assessment of the project's success or ways in which it could have been improved. What new skills and research methods were gained and how will they be incorporated into your artistry.
  - The DUS will assess the paper, approving it if all of the criteria above are met. While this is not a formal research paper, the reflection will be assessed for clarity, honesty and depth of self-reflection, and reflection on your experience of the TAPS curriculum.

Honors

The standard pattern above, plus an honors thesis course taken in Semester VII (TAPS 1990), the topic of which would be determined before Semester VII. Candidates for the honors program should have an outstanding academic record and must apply to the Department by April 1 of Semester VI. Proposals can be submitted electronically. Honors are awarded for theses in all concentration tracks. All theses are substantive pieces of writing. Some theses are strictly academic. Other honors theses may include a creative component (such as the directing of a play, a solo performance piece, the study and performance of a major role, or the design of a production) but the thesis itself will be a critical, written work based in research relative to that artwork. For plays submitted for honors, the essay should accompany the play, reporting on the research and the process of writing, though the play itself counts as the substantive written work. See the Honors Advisor for more information about proposal and thesis guidelines.

TAPS 0030. Introduction to Acting and Directing.
Explores basic acting/directing concepts from a variety of perspectives including the use of the actor's imagination/impulsivity in the creation of truthful, dramatic performance; the body, as a way of knowing and communicating knowledge; and the voice, as a means of discovering and revealing emotion/thought. There is a mandatory tech requirement and some evening hours are required. Please go to the TAPS website for specifics on admission and the technical requirement (http://brown.edu/go/TAPS0030). Enrollment limited to 18 first year students. Instructor permission required. No permission will be given during pre-registration.

TAPS 0080. Asian American Theatre and Performance in Transnational Contexts.
From the founding of the East West Players in San Francisco in 1965 to Toronto's now thriving Fu-Gen Theatre, formed in 2002, embodied performance has long played a central role in the formation of an Asian diasporic identity, movement, and politics in the Americas. This intro-level course explores the history and development of Asian American theatre and performance. Through a variety of critical, historical, and aesthetic texts (theatre, literature, contemporary art) we will consider encounters and exchanges in Asian American and Asian Canadian theatre and performance histories as one way to critically engage the "transnational" within Asian American Studies.

TAPS 0080A. Feminist Aesthetics and Performance Philosophy.
A theoretical and practical investigation of art and performance from feminist and performance philosophical perspectives, focusing on the topics of perception, experience, thinking, embodiment, and the practice of everyday life. The course will introduce students to theories and methods from feminist aesthetics and the emerging field of performance philosophy. We will study feminist critiques of aesthetic categories (Battersby, Cixous, Grosz, Korsmeyer, Piper, Schenman, Ziarek) and feminist practices of art and performance. We will combine our theoretical work with practical explorations in the studio. No prior experience with art or performance-making required.

TAPS 0085. Uncomfortable Media (MCM 0901H).
Interested students must register for MCM 0901H.

TAPS 0100. Playwriting I.
A workshop for students who have little or no previous experience in writing plays. Students will be introduced to a variety of technical and imaginative considerations through exercises, readings and discussions. Course is not open to those who have taken Advanced Playwriting (TAPS 1500, formerly LITR 1010C and TSDA 1500). Enrollment is limited to 14 undergraduates per section. A limited number of spaces are reserved for incoming and transfer students. Instructor permission required. S/NC.

Interested students must register for LITR 0110E.

TAPS 0200. Playwriting II - Role Play.
In this intermediate course, we will focus on bolstering our writerly voices while defining ongoing artistic practices. In this hybrid workshop and seminar, we will work toward writing one-act plays of our own, while investigating other writer’s worlds. In the plays we will encounter this semester, characters engage in some form of role play. We end up asking: what does it mean to play? How does a play play? Through this study, we will ask what it means for characters to be active, how to write plot as an offering of contrasts and tensions, and where exactly character is composed. S/NC.

Spr TAPS0200 S01 25248 M 3:00-5:50(13) ‘To Be Arranged’

TAPS 0210. Dancing the African Diaspora.
This seminar/studio course introduces students to theories, debates, and critical frameworks in African Diaspora Dance Studies. It asks: What role does dance play throughout the African diaspora? What makes a dance ‘black’? How do conceptualizations of gender and sexuality inform our reading of dancing bodies? Using African diaspora, critical dance, performance, and black feminist frameworks, we will examine the history, politics, and aesthetics of “black dance”.

TAPS 0220. Persuasive Communication.
Provides an introduction to public speaking, and helps students develop confidence in public speaking through the presentation of persuasive speeches. Primarily for seniors. Limited to 18. Instructor’s permission required. No permission will be given during pre-registration; interested students should sign up well in advance on the TAPS 0220 waitlist (application form is at http://brown.edu/go/TAPS0220) and attend the first day of class. Attendance is mandatory. The application/waitlist process does not apply to students registering for the Summer term through the School of Professional Studies.

Focus on elements of dramatic analysis and interpretation as applied to the art of acting, and, by extension, directing. Monologues, scene study, and improvisation are basis for comment on individual problems. Reading of dramatic texts and theory. Substantial scene rehearsal commitment necessary. Attendance mandatory. Not open to first-year students. Enrollment limited to 20. Instructor permission required. No permission will be given during pre-registration. S/NC.

TAPS 0240. Africana Feminisms.
Beginning with the institution of slavery and carrying on to the present day, we will examine the field of Black Feminist Thought—or, the political, social, and economic forces that shape black American women's lives. We will ask: How do black women's lives, labor, and cultural productions lay bare the limits of maleness and whiteness as dominant frames? Why and how do black women matter to us all? Together, we'll ride the three waves of black feminism to explore the ways black women's cultural production has been consequential to notions of citizenship, liberation, and culture.

TAPS 0250. Introduction to Technical Theatre and Production.
This course is an introduction to the basic principles of stagecraft, lighting and sound technology and the different elements of theatrical design. Instructor permission required. Enrollment limited to 15.

TAPS 0260. Stage Lighting.
This course is an introduction to stage lighting. Enrollment limited to 20.

TAPS 0310. Beginning Modern Dance.
Introduction to the art of movement. Focuses on building a common vocabulary based on ballet, vernacular forms, improvisation, Laban movement analysis, American modern dance, and the body therapies. Individual work is explored. One and one-half hours of class, four days a week. Enrollment limited to 40. S/NC.

TAPS 0310E. Shakespeare: The Screenplays (ENGL 0310E).
Interested students must register for ENGL 0310E.

TAPS 0320. Dance Composition.
Focuses on building the individual's creative voice. A movement vocabulary is developed from Western techniques (ballet, American modern dance, Laban/Bartenieff movement analysis, vernacular forms, space-harmony/movement physics, and the body therapies) along with group improvisations and collaboration with artists in other disciplines. Enrollment limited to 40. S/NC.

TAPS 0330. Mande Dance, Music and Culture.
Mande, Dance, Music and Culture explores three distinct life-cycle and celebratory dances from the Bambara, Malinke, Wasalu, and Kassonke peoples of Mali, West Africa. Each dance is taught in relationship to relevant oral histories, folklore and contemporary expressions. Emphasis is placed upon building a mindful community of committed thinkers and doers. Attendance at the first class is required. There is an application process for enrollment. Enrollment limited to 100. S/NC.

This interdisciplinary, reading/writing-intensive course examines the notion of blackness through theorizations of performance. It pursues the following questions: What is black authenticity? What are the rubrics with which 'authentic' blackness is measured? How is black performance political? Discussions and written work will interrogate the slipperiness of, desire for, and policing of blackness in order to trouble conceptions of race as a biological essence.

TAPS 0360. Viewpoints Technique: The Moving Body in Relation to Time, Space, and Ensemble.
This course delves deeply into the Viewpoints as directors Anne Bogart and Tina Landau have adapted and defined them for training performers and generating composition. Viewpoints Technique systematically breaks down elements of time and space, providing a precise language for makers to communicate about dynamic staging and offering performing artists the tools to direct themselves more successfully from within composition. An indispensable practice for ensemble awareness, Viewpoints Technique invites us to break down the binary of the dance artist and theatre artist. All performers can benefit from this rigorous investigation of time and space and the pursuit of cohesive ensemble.

Musical theatre is having a "moment" in contemporary culture: but how did the "American musical" as we know it come to be? How can we use the critical tools provided by theatre and performance studies to unpack the complicated history of this most American of theatrical forms? How has musical theatre explored the complexities of social difference across race, gender, class, sexuality, disability? In this course, specifically designed for First- and Second-Year students who may be considering the TAPS concentration, students will read, watch, listen, and even perform their way toward some ways of answering these questions.

TAPS 0510. Introduction to Shakespeare (ENGL 0310A).
Interested students must register for ENGL 0310A.

TAPS 0700. Introduction to Theatre, Dance and Performance.
An introduction to the breadth of topics covered in the TAPS Department, this class is a gateway to the concentration open to all students interested in live arts. We will explore how, where, and why theatre, dance and performance are made and investigate their relationship to broader culture and society. Students will learn basics: how to read a play, how to appreciate dance, and how to approach the variety of venues, histories, and methods involved in production. Overlaps with other media will be explored. Visits from TAPS faculty will dovetail with the season of offerings on the TAPS main stage.

TAPS 0800D. Asian/American Performance and Aesthetics.
This course examines performances in and of the Asians, paying special attention to gendered and racialized constructions of Asians and Asians in the popular imagination. Working at the intersections of Asian/American Studies and Performance Studies, this course considers the ways in which Asianness emerges from performance along the multiple axes of race, gender, sexuality and class. In analyzing a broad spectrum of aesthetic practices, including theatre, film, music and performance art, we will explore what Asianness means within the gendered and racialized circuitry of global exchanges of commodities, labors, bodies, affects, and discourses.

TAPS 0800E. Performance and Law: Staging Sovereignty in the Courtroom and the Theater.
In this course we explore the relationship between law and performance, and investigate the political stakes of doing so across various historical moments. From scripted proclamations of sovereignty during scenes of conquest to witness testimony in the infamous witch trials, legal processes often seem to rely on spectacle, drama, choreography, scripting—i.e., features associated with theatrical performances. Through case studies we learn to interpret legal events as performances and vice versa (staged performances as legal events). Can a work of theater or dance legislate? Adjudicate? Restore justice? Reading intensive and interdisciplinary course. Students across arts and social science backgrounds welcome.

TAPS 0800F. Performance and the Crisis of Scientific Reality.
Trust is a constant public problem. We are bombarded by competing versions of reality. A century ago, a ‘crisis of reality’ emerged after the breakdown of positivist science. Enduring truths gave way to contingent particulars in modern life. This course investigates how the experiments of artists and scientists contributed to the philosophical re-shaping of ‘reality’ as something not only historically made, but also performed. By mingling key texts from the philosophy of science with complementary texts and media from aesthetics and performance, this course focuses on the way that reality has been re-staged across overlapping domains of art and science.
How does performance comment on, interact with, and influence society? And to what extent is this question culturally specific? Performing Italy focuses on Nobel-prize winner Dario Fo, Franca Rame, Commedia dell’Arte, and Teatro di Narrazione. Engaging with theatrical materials, we will conduct comparative work driven by the students’ own experiences and explore how Italian theater intervened in historical and political discourses within Italian society between the 1960s and the 2000s. Topics will include: the years of lead (1970s terrorism); the influence of the Catholic church on Italian society; the Italian State and organized crime; gender and sexuality in modern Italian society.

TAPS 0901N. Body/Gesture/Cinema (MCM 0901N).
Interested students must register for MCM 0901N.

TAPS 0901Q. Governing Sex: Citizenship, Violence, Media (MCM 0901Q).
Interested students must register for MCM 0901Q.

TAPS 0901S. Mediating Reproduction: Feminism, Art, Activism (MCM 0901S).
Interested students must register for MCM 0901S.

TAPS 0930A. The Actor's Instrument: Voice and Speech.
A complete and well-seasoned actor has the ability to perform with specificity and ease, both vocally and physically. Specificity comes from an integration of speech and movement technique. Ease is only possible when a mastery of technical skills reaches the point where the actor can integrate them without loss of spontaneity. The goal of this class is to give the student the fundamental techniques of voice and speech in relation to the body. Prerequisite: TAPS 0230. Enrollment limited to 16. Instructor permission required. S/NC.

Prerequisite does not apply to students registering for the Summer term through the Office of Continuing Education.

This course is designed to help students explore the development of relationships in theatrical space without the benefit (or confinement) of a script. By cultivating and developing basic performance skills including spontaneity, self-awareness, creative use of the body and mind, access to the imagination, and collaborativity, this course has applications for actors and other performers interested in all types of performance as well as those interested in improvised performance specifically.

One of the intentions of this course is to generate truthful, creative, and collaborative play, which can lead naturally to material that is funny or humorous as an organic outcome of the moment. However, "comedy" or "improv comedy," which has a different set of intentions altogether, will be strongly discouraged in this course. "Getting laughs," as a goal in and of itself, manufactures unproductive pressure to "be clever" or to "succeed" in ways that are inconsistent with truly creative engagement.

TAPS 0930C. The Actor's Instrument: Stage Movement for Actors and Directors.
Students engage in a process of exploration that centers on the physical relationship of the actor to the physical reality of live performance on stage. The class is structured as a survey introduction to a variety of methods and targets beginning movers with a range of interests and performance applications. Students investigate a broad spectrum of contemporary, classic and non-western movement theories/approaches to better enhance the ability to be 3-dimensionally present in time and space and to develop skills in the art of non-textually based storytelling and performance.

Spr TAPS0930C S01 25245 TTh 1:00-3:50(08) (S. dAngelo)

Derived from the teachings of Jacques Lecoq and Philippe Gaulier, this course is physically-based, improvisational, loud and messy. Emphasis is on organic and intuitive response, timing and rhythms inherent in comedy, non-verbal expression, the relationship of the Actor to the Audience, and Play! Enrollment limited to 20. S/NC

TAPS 0930F. Explorations in Clown and Physical Play.
Participating in this course, you will learn how to value and share your own unique ridiculousness by transforming mistakes into opportunities and limitations into creative expression. Based in physical exploration and improvisation, this work will implore you to recognize your relationship to fear, expand your sense of humor, connect to an audience, and play with abandon. Inspired by various kinds of clowns throughout history, you will begin to create your own vocabulary of play that will organically accumulate into solo and group performance pieces.

TAPS 1210. Solo Performance.
An exploration of the challenges and rewards of performing solo. Students research, write, and perform a one-person show. Other projects may include performance art, stand-up comedy, and monologuing. Substantial time commitment. Attendance mandatory. For advanced students with appropriate background and experience. Submit proposal and resume in the fall. For guidelines and information contact taps@brown.edu. Permission required in advance. Enrollment limited to 20.

This course explores performance practices that predate the European Renaissance across disparate parts of the globe. Considered will be Paleolithic rock art and other evidence of ritual practices in Europe, Africa, and the Americas; ritual dramas of Egypt, Greece, and the Roman Empire; Sub-Saharan African traditions and theatre/dance forms in ancient India, medieval Japan and the indigenous Americas. In short, we will explore a wealth of differing ancestral theatrical and ritual modes that continue to leave their mark in contemporary diasporic expressions.

TAPS 1240. Performance Historiography and Theatre History.
This course will provide an introduction to performance history and historiography by concentrating on analysis of dramatic texts, theatrical events, festival performances and “performative” state and religious ceremonies from 1500-1850. We will explore incidents in Asia, the Americas and Europe as related to state consolidation, colonization, and in the Americas, the origins of capitalism in the Caribbean. In later periods, we will study the role of theatre in the history of the United States, including the role of theatre in the history of the United States.

TAPS 1250. Twentieth-Century Western Theatre and Performance.
The study of key figures and movements in 20th-century Western theatre and performance, from approximately 1870 to 2000. We explore the relationship between theatre and society, from the period of naturalism and alternative strategies to realism such as symbolism, futurism, surrealism and constructivism, along with myriad figures in the modern and postmodern "avant-garde."

TAPS 1260. Food as/in Performance.
A theater maker has a rare relationship with an audience. It is a relationship that holds the opportunity to engage the five senses (six, if you count the heart). With this thought, let us consider the theatricality of food. How are theater makers creating conversation and experience using language, memory, touch, taste, and smell to shape dramatic action or tell story? Students will prepare “theatrical food experiences” that provide opportunities to write and perform texts.

TAPS 1270. Masking, Trancing, Performing, and Spectating in Non-Western and Circumpacific Performance.
An inquiry into specific traditions of performance - ritual, traditional theatre, contemporary theatre, and performed behavior in more or less day-to-day life - that exist or have existed in various (mostly) Asian settings and have been studied and documented by scholars, film-makers, and theatre artists. The emphasis will be on traditions that use masks as means of transforming the identity of the performer and of the world presented in performance. No prior experience in theatrical performance or in the study of Asian or anthropology is assumed.

TAPS 1280B. The Creative Ensemble.
Develops skills in acting, improvisation, directing, teaching, and writing. Through research, performance and collaboration, participants explore individual/group talents and creative passions. Ensemble-created final performance project. Prerequisite: TAPS 0230 or equivalent.

TAPS 1280C. Stage Lighting II.
This class is a continuation of Stage Lighting. The major portion of this class is to give the student opportunity to create an actual design on stage for the Theatre Arts & Performance Studies (TAPS). Each individual student's main project will be to create a light design and be part of the production team of a Sock and Buskin produced show. The class will be an open forum for students to share ideas about their perspective designs. The class is also set up for the continuation of expanding their Vectorworks Spotlight and Lightwright skills, as well as light console programming.

TAPS 1280D. Perception/ The Performativity of Neurology.
Time-based art and “theater” more specifically is a perfect manipulator of experience. Many creators of time-based art look for the “universal.” In this course we will explore the science behind what we all have in common beyond shared-experience: brains. What happens in the minds of all truly happens. How can we use art to make our brains experience the same things? And what experiences can we curate for our brains based on science? Show don’t tell. How can art take place in the room in front of us? How do we experience a performance rather than just “watch” it.

TAPS 1280E. Neurodiversity and Performance.
This course will use the framework of performance studies to investigate the emerging concepts of neurodiversity and neurodivergence—terms originally developed by autistic activists and self-advocates seeking to depathologize autism and other forms of neurological, mental, and cognitive difference. Course materials will incorporate perspectives from theatre, performance, and other aesthetic modes in addition to theoretical and scholarly work from disability studies, the history of science, and cultural studies. We will also ask how social movements such as neurodiversity and mad pride have used performative strategies to contest and reframe how we understand disability and neurological difference.

TAPS 1280F. Introduction to Set Design.
This course introduces students to the complex relationships between cultural entrepreneurs, buyers, sellers, producers, managers, and artists. Through readings, guest speakers and case studies, with particular emphasis on emerging media technologies, business practice and live art administration, “A Producer Prepares” will arm students with the critical, historical, managerial and curatorial tools necessary to produce work in the contemporary cultural economy. This class seeks to situate the arts curation and production within histories of cultural practice, management and technology, and ultimately aims to endow student producers with the critical acumen necessary to thrive in a arts sector in flux. Mandatory S/NC

TAPS 1280G. A Producer Prepares: Curation, Ethics, and the Entrepreneurial Practice of Arts Programming.
This course introduces students to the complex relationships between cultural entrepreneurs, buyers, sellers, producers, managers, and artists. TAPS 1280N. New Theories for a Baroque Stage.
This course re-conceptualizes and re-models seventeenth-century "baroque" theatricality through the lenses of Russian formalist theory, phenomenology, (post-)surrealist literature and objects, Oulipian literature of constraints, Deleuzian theory, ontological-hysterical theatre, film, etc.

TAPS 1280Q. Hybrid Art (VISA 1800L).
Interested students must register for VISA 1800L.

TAPS 1280S. Libretto Workshop for Musical Theatre.
This class is not only for the aspiring librettist but for any student desiring insight into the craft of book writing for musical theater. The course will cover the basics of storytelling (plot, character development, conflict, etc.) but specifically in terms of the musical. It will also detail the fundamentals of lyric writing, musical narrative and basic composition. We will examine three libretti (SWEENEY TODD: the classic horror, LITTLE SHOP of HORRORS, the modern sci-fi and RENT, the contemporary adaptation). There will be lectures, group discussions, talks with guest professionals, and analysis of student assignments. Enrollment limited to 15 sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

TAPS 1280V. Theatre and Conquest in the Americas, from Cortes to NAFTA.
Explores the intimate relationship between theatre and conquest in the Americas as contained in missionary accounts, plays, performances and visual art from Cortés arrival to the present. Students will analyze plays and performances that stage the Spanish Conquest, consider the theatrical procedures of the conquest and examine theatrical representation as a methodology of conquest in the Americas.

TAPS 1280Y. Issues in Performance Studies.
Explores myriad ways of thinking, doing and talking about performance in the broad spectrum -- from social media to theatre, dance, film, and everyday life including identifications and disidentifications of gender, race, sex, and class. We may study museum installations, surgery, tourism, carnival, history reenactments, performance-based art, sports, and even dinner parties among other actions and sites. The objective is not to pin down a genre or category of performance but to understand performance variously as an analytic and practice, a form of lived history and way of being, including but not limited to traditional theater and dance practices.

TAPS 1281A. Director/Designer Collaborative Studio.
Students will explore the relationship between director and designer within the production process. The main objective is to improve collaboration and production output by learning the language, tools, and skills involved in each area of discipline so as to enhance creative output. Enrollment limited to 17 students.

TAPS 1281C. Memory Plays: Theatricality and Time.
This course will read philosophy and critical theory about memory and time beside dramatic works and performance art that take up the topic of history, repetition, and temporality in live art. Readings will be selected from Sophocles, Aristotle, Shakespeare, Noh, Freud, Benjamin, Bergson, Brecht, Muller, Stein, Duras, Homi Bhabha, Paula Vogel, Suzan-Lori Parks, W. G. Sebald, Gilles Deleuze, Thomas King, Philip Deloria, Coco Fusco, Diana Taylor, Charles Ludlam, Teching Hsieh, Wooster Group, Spiderwoman Theatre, Ubu and the Truth Commission, Errol Morris, Robin Soans, and Erik Ehn to ask about time, memory, history, act, Mneme, anamnesis, recognition, and "reconciliation."

TAPS 1281D. Place-Based Dance and Performance.
How can movement practices excavate buried histories and ignored rhythms to invite new understandings of place? In this hybrid studio seminar course, we will develop critical and creative tools for making public performances that engage local sites through the body. Students will encounter site-specific techniques drawn from dance, performance art, and sculpture, as well as interdisciplinary decolonizing methods for doing place-based research. The class culminates in collaborative performance projects based on extensive research with a local site. This course is open to all who are interested in developing embodied methods of engaging with place and the public.

TAPS 1281E. Directing Theory and Practice.
Directing Theory and Practice is a hybrid academic and studio class designed to introduce students to the history, theory, and practice of the director's craft. Readings on the theoretical/practical methods of direction are examined closely in class discussions and directing projects. All students must serve as actors and directors throughout.

TAPS 1281F. Choreography ONE: Dancemaking Pre-Classic to Post-Modern.
This course introduces students to 20th century American choreographic methods. Drawing from key texts, improvisational games and dance scores, "Choreography ONE" examines influential choreographic pedagogues alongside major figures of Western dance history and key critical methods. Students will practice systems to make, discuss and critique dances while situating those modes in historical, cultural and performance context. All class members will receive optional lab time in the studio to respond to assignments and have the opportunity to partner with student lighting designers. This course will culminate in the performance of student work in the TAPS Fall Dance Concert.

TAPS 1281O. Acting Outside the Box: Race, Class, Gender and Sexuality in Performance.
Examines the relationship between social and cultural identities and their representations in dramatic literature and performance. Students will be expected to read critical essays and plays, conduct research, and prepare to act in scenes that challenge the actor to confront the specifics of character and situation beyond the Eurocentric ideal. The goal is to strengthen the actor's ability to construct truly meaningful characters by removing any reliance of "type" and/or immediate "identification" with the characters they will portray. Open to Any Brown/RISD graduate/undergraduate student that has taken TAPS 0230/Acting or the equivalent. Students should be aware that this is a hybrid Research and Performance class which may be counted as either a Performance Studies/Theatre Arts course for credit. Instructor Permission is Required. Interested students should attend the first class meeting in order to apply.

TAPS 1281Q. Introduction to Critical Dance Studies.
Explores myriad ways of thinking, doing and talking about performance in the broad spectrum -- from social media to theatre, dance, film, and everyday life including identifications and disidentifications of gender, race, sex, and class. We may study museum installations, surgery, tourism, carnival, history reenactments, performance-based art, sports, and even dinner parties among other actions and sites. The objective is not to pin down a genre or category of performance but to understand performance variously as an analytic and practice, a form of lived history and way of being, including but not limited to traditional theater and dance practices.

TAPS 1281T. Native Americans in the Media: Representation and Recognition.
Interdisciplinary seminar course for credit. Pedagogues alongside major figures of Western dance history and key critical methods. All class members will receive optional lab time in the studio to respond to assignments and have the opportunity to partner with student lighting designers. This course will culminate in the performance of student work in the TAPS Fall Dance Concert.

TAPS 1281Q. Introduction to Critical Dance Studies.
Critical dance studies centers dancing bodies as integral to various social, cultural, and political identity-making practices. In this course students will study, observe, examine, discuss, and at times participate in popular, classical, and social dance forms from a range of historical and global perspectives. Our driving inquiries include: How does dance travel and transform through time and space? How does dance produce identities? How does dance complicate notions of authorship and originality? Course readings are drawn from dance studies, critical race studies, gender and sexuality studies, and performance studies. Readings are complemented by screenings, movement exercises, and live performances.

TAPS 1285. Film Acting.
This intermediate acting class is designed to introduce and develop the tools necessary for acting on camera; to examine the application of the screenplay as a blueprint for the finished film; and to pursue the process and demands of working under limited and quickly changing conditions. Utilizing an extensive library of screenplays, the class will study film scene analysis and preparation, pro-active choice, and heightened connection. They will develop and hone the skill to remain present and vital through multiple takes of the scene, keeping emphasis on process rather than presentation.

TAPS 1290. Advanced Costume Design.
Costume design and rendering approaches to various genres of performing arts, including opera, musicals, and dance. Designed for the serious student of theatrical design. Advanced work on rendering emphasizing character, practicality, line, form, and color. Lab required.

TAPS 1300. Advanced Set Design.
The examination of the working relationship between designer and director. An emphasis on the design abilities needed to communicate varied visual approaches. Developing the creative, theatrical vocabulary needed to turn a director's vision into a fully articulated set design. A substantial amount of plays will be read and researched. Drafting and model rendering techniques will be applied. Prerequisite: TAPS 1280F. Instructor approval required prior to registration. Enrollment limited to 10.

TAPS 1310. Advanced Modern Dance.
This course is designed for students with several years of dance experience in any genre. The purpose of this class is to endow students with technical mastery of current contemporary movement vocabularies, with emphasis on Release Technique and Barteneff Fundamentals. Enrollment limited to 40. S/NC.

TAPS 1315. Digital Design for the Theatre.
A comprehensive introduction to the use of two-dimensional computer aided tools to realize scenic design elements and diversify the designers' visual vocabulary. A thorough understanding of digital work-flow from concept development, input, to computer aided design and output will be achieved. The course will cover: Introduction to Drafting with Auto-cad and plotting, Introduction to the use of the Adobe Creative Suite including Photoshop, Illustrator and InDesign as they relate to set design and implementing designs in full-scale. We will also review Typography and basic Graphic Design elements and how they relate to scenic elements, scaling and technical applications.

TAPS 1320. Choreography.
Designed for those who have had some experience in composition and would like to work, under supervision, on making dances. Emphasizes making full-length dances for small and large groups and demands a sophisticated use of space, dynamics, and music. Further emphasis on viewing and interpreting classic and contemporary works from a choreographic viewpoint. S/NC.

TAPS 1325. Experiments in Dance, Movement, and Performance.
This course introduces students to the histories and methodologies; meanings and functions of experimental choreography in specific artistic, social, and political contexts. We examine the ways in which choreographers and dancers have experimented with the traditions and forms of dance, by mapping a series of interdisciplinary gestures in relation to creative and critical fields. The course builds on a series of composition exercises and creative assignments to culminate with the making and showing of a dance performance. No experience of dance is required, but an interest in thinking and experimenting with the roles of dance across art, society, and academia.

TAPS 1330. Dance History: The 20th Century.
An exploration of the major figures and trends in modern dance. While the main focus of the course is on American Dance, attention is given to earlier European and other dance traditions that have contributed to the American dance heritage. May be of particular interest Americanists, art historians, dancers, and theatre majors.

TAPS 1335. Movement Theory: Choreography, Modernity, Subjectivity.
This seminar examines theatrical choreography as a defining art of western modernity. Drawing from the publication of Choreographie in 1700—from the Greek khoreia (dancing) and graphein (writing)—as a system of dance notation, the course will follow the transformation of the relation between the score and the event; writing and moving; philosophy and dance from the Baroque period to contemporary experimental works. This course seeks to enable students to apply a diverse set of languages and concepts to the study of dance; to equip them with the critical tools through which to experience, analyze, and write on dance as a culturally meaningful practice.

TAPS 1340. Dance Styles.
This studio course focuses on Repertory Etudes created by diverse choreographers of 20th-century American dance. Ideal for students who have reached a beginner/intermediate-advanced technical level, the course builds on technical and improvisational concepts covered in TAPS 0310. Repertoire includes: Jazz Swing Duet By Danny Buraczewski; Rainbow Etude by Donald McKayle; Parsons Etude by David Parsons; and Limon Etude by Carla Maxwell based on works by Jose Limon. Upon completing this course students will be prepared to perform at least one of these dances within an educational setting. With further coaching, they might be prepared to perform in more formal performances.

TAPS 1341. Introduction to Ballet.
An introduction to the classical ballet vocabulary and basic movement patterns. We will focus on maintaining correct body alignment while increasing fitness and coordination, and develop a deeper appreciation for ballet in the context of the liberal arts. No prior ballet experience is necessary for this course, but advanced dancers who would like to brush up on basics are also welcome.

TAPS 1342. Advanced Beginning Ballet.
This course is designed for students who have some dance background, or who have successfully completed Introduction to Ballet (TAPS 1341). Apart from working on core strength, alignment, and flexibility, we will focus on faster paced movement sequences, and prepare for turns and jumps appropriate for an advanced beginner level.
TAPS 1343. Intermediate Ballet.
This course is designed for students who have successfully completed Advanced Beginning Ballet (TAPS 1342) and kept up with their dance conditioning, or for students with previous ballet experience at an advanced beginner/intermediate level. The main focus of this class is on center exercises, especially on pirouettes and petit, medium and grand allegro appropriate for an intermediate level.

This course examines the mutual influences between the fields of dance and the visual arts since 1960. It surveys a series of artworks spanning early minimal art, happenings, and Judson Dance Theatre to contemporary global experiments in choreographing museal spaces. How can we map the "close correspondence" between choreographic and visual art practices across the performance of pedestrian bodies, dancing sculptures, and relational encounters? Students are invited to experiment collectively with dance archiving methodologies, to write about a performance event in the museum context, as well as to research the critical intersections between dance and art history; performance and curatorial studies.

TAPS 1346. Affective Machinery: Hybrid Seminar On Technologies Of Choreographic Practice.
This course examines the relationship of technological innovation and Western choreographic practice from the 17th century to present. By tracing the creative application of specific technologies (beginning with the prosenium stage, gas light, photograph, television, and film, and concluding with emergent media phenomena such as motion capture, virtual reality, kinesthetic algorithms and gestural interfaces) by such artists as Loie Fuller, George Balanchine, Anne Teresa De Keersmaeker, and Beyoncé, and we will explore the contrapuntal interplay between artistic practice, performative technology and contemporary culture.

TAPS 1350. Dance Performance and Repertory.

TAPS 1380. Mise en Scene.
A reconstruction of the idea of a stage and a frame on the evidence of theory, novels, plays, and especially films—the seen and the unseen—using the organizing strategies of mystery. Art’s “impossible” brokering of the real and the representational in a dialectic of space is considered from a multiplicity of perspectives in diverse works. Enrollment limited to 20. Instructor permission required.

TAPS 1390. Contemporary Mande Performance.
This course examines the celebratory, life-cycle, club, and street party performance forms from the Bambara, Malinke, Bobo, Khassonke and Wasalu peoples of Mali, West, Africa. These embodied performance traditions are studied alongside their specific musical and social traditions and oral histories. Meditation, films, readings, guest artists and collaborative research projects will be introduced to help facilitate a deeper investigation of contemporary Mande society and its artistic production. Students MUST register for one of the Movement Labs, and all primary meeting times. Students must attend the first class and fill out an application.

TAPS 1400. Advanced Performance.
An investigation into abstract and nonlinear modes of performance, working from fragmentary and recombinant narrative, dramatic, and found sources. Seeks to evolve a conceptual approach to performance of the individual actor-director-writer through supervised and independent exercises and projects. Prerequisite: TAPS 0230. For juniors and especially seniors. Enrollment limited to 20.

TAPS 1410M. Shakespeare and Philosophy (COLT 1410M).
Interested students must register for COLT 1410M.

TAPS 1415. 13 Positions.
A lab exploring the physical, aesthetic and performative relationship of the body to a student’s cultural cosmology. We will also look at certain (so-called) traditional aspects to successful forms (a performance, a dance, a film-video, a piece of writing, a painting, sculpture…) and then attempt to break it down and reframe this tradition with a discipline (rigor) that evokes accidents and the inexplicable. A lab that examines how the creative process is thought about, considered and looked upon, watched, inside and out. A fresh outlook, (shared) labor and or proposition on how to construct/deconstruct the right/wrong/right art work.

TAPS 1425. Queer Performance.
This seminar will explore the many meanings of queer performance. We will consider queerness as it is performed in a range of aesthetic genres—theater, music, dance, performance art, digital media—as well as in everyday vernacular contexts. We will explore how the interdisciplinary academic field of queer studies has turned to performance and performativity as key modes through which gender and sexuality are expressed. The class will place a particular emphasis on queer of color, trans*, and queer approaches and cultural practices, addressing how queerness intersects with other axes of social difference, including race, class, and ability.

TAPS 1430. Russian Theatre and Drama.
An overview of Russian theatre and drama from the 18th century to the late 20th century. Emphasis on plays as texts and historical documents, and on theatrical conditions, productions, and innovations. All readings are in English. Russian area studies concentrators are encouraged to enroll. Instructor permission required.

Interested students must register for MES 1450.
TAPS 1480. Sweating Infrastructure: Cultures of Support in Dance and Live Performance.

As the income gap in the US has grown, the possibility of a career in the performing arts has become increasingly less viable for a significant percentage of the population. Issues of arts funding, labor, and professionalization have been debated across academic disciplines and by arts organizers who experience these instabilities firsthand. Researching infrastructure through a dance studies lens, this course reframes the role of embodied action, interaction and assembly in sustaining enabling environments for the arts. By reviewing literature and interviewing arts professionals, this project evidences how people “sweat” the problem of sustaining art work differently on sociocultural grounds.

TAPS 1485. The Activist Body.

The current explosion of activist activity on and beyond college campuses has been called a “movement moment” (McCarthy, 2017), signaling an urgent need to address what it means to be a politically responsive body in the world today. This course examines activism as a topic and performance practice rooted in the body’s capacity to disrupt the political status quo. Building from the growing literature on protest and social movement in dance and performance studies, students will theorize activism and agentic embodiment, analyze cultural events that claim activist intentions, and body forth activist strategies and manifestos in weekly movement sessions.

TAPS 1500A. Advanced Playwriting: Invitation to the Devoted Life.

A practice-based class designed to promote prompt, connected and original writing for the live environment. We move through the regular practice of assorted exercises to the development of a completed script by the end of the term. Inquiry is guided by selected readings in esthetic theory, philosophy and theology (Anne Carson, St. Vincent de Paul, Simone Weil, others). Previous playwriting experience preferred. Instructor permission required.

TAPS 1500H. Advanced Playwriting.

This unique course combines Brown undergraduate/graduate students with Brown/Trinity M.F.A. Acting and Directing students to explore bodies on stage, in specific time and space. Students create original short, theatrical works as they examine and experiment with multiple narrative techniques. Classes include craft exercises and close readings of a diverse range of texts—all to look deeper at how works are built. Through energetic workshop-style classes, this rare and significant collaboration allows students of different backgrounds to experience the full process of drafting, hearing the words aloud, and revising original works. Open to graduate/undergraduate students. Prerequisite: TAPS 0100 and 0200. Enrollment limited.

TAPS 1500L. Acting Together on the World Stage: Writing and Political Performance.

Practical research in art for social change, with an emphasis on writing and composition, resulting in a series of solo and group devised performances (or well articulated proposals). Each week, in-session writing and devising exercises, coupled with a discussion of critical readings and case histories, build to projects that may be constructed solo or in small groups. Final projects may take the form of carefully constructed, achievable plans for long-range implementation. Students will be required to attend special workshops, field trips, and performances as scheduled through this semester; this schedule will be available at the first class. Enrollment limited to 12.

TAPS 1500M. Advanced Playwriting: Guhahamuka.

Guhahamuka is a Kinyarwanda word meaning “breathlessness,” sometimes applied to the wordlessness that befalls the survivors of trauma. We will progress through a series of graduated exercises design to work-out the fundamentals of writing for the live encounter, with an emphasis on the uses of testimony, and language that pushes into spaces where language doesn’t fit, doesn’t belong, fails, converts itself to different energies. How a writer’s technique images spiritual practice, and avails of the useful impossibilities of incarnation and transcendence. Taking on a practical language from contemplative traditions as means of ordering the writer’s craft.

TAPS 1510. Inventing Directing.

“Inventing Directing” is a course that deals with how a director gets thought into stage space via different emphases communicated to actors; attention to the life of objects; exploration of the languages of stage space; accessing personal experience to deepen point of view; drawing upon film, the practical application of theory, and literature; vertical thinking; and spatializing time. The course will involve practical exercises and work on both scenes from plays and on material drawn from other sources.

TAPS 1520. Seminar in Theatre Arts.

Seminar designed for senior theatre arts concentrators, required during Semester VII. Topics focus on career planning and theatre arts subjects not dealt with in other courses. Enrollment limited to seniors.

TAPS 1600. Dramaturgy.

This course is an introduction to dramaturgy and script analysis for advanced undergraduates. It will introduce a variety of plays and critical approaches to dramatic texts and performances with emphasis on dramatically divergent dramaturgies, adaptation and textual analysis for performance.

TAPS 1610. Political Theatre of the Americas.

This course explores political theatre and performance in Latin America, the US and Canada. The primary concern will be the use of performance in indigenous rights, queer rights, and gender equity campaigns as well as general critiques of socioeconomic inequity. The course examines the strategies used by actors in theatrical performances, performance art, and political protests that use the tools of performance. Exploration is of the rich relationship between politics and performance. There are no prerequisites, but one course in either Latin American Studies or Theatre and Performance Studies is recommended.

TAPS 1630. Performativity and the Body: Staging Gender, Staging Race.

This course examines how we develop and interrogate different meanings around our bodies through performance practices in everyday life and on stage. Specifically, we analyze how race and gender are regulated, reinforced, reworked, and subverted through embodied modes of performance. We explore how raced and gendered bodies are constructed, reconstructed, and deconstructed through everyday performances of self from fashion to food to surgery. We will also examine works by playwrights, visual artists, and theatre artists who deploy performance practices to make, unmake, and remake historical, social, and political understandings of our bodies as raced and gendered.
TAPS 1640. Theatre and Conquest in Greater Mexico: From Cortes to NAFTA.
Explores the intimate relationship between theatre and conquest in the Americas as contained in missionary accounts, plays, performances and visual art from Cortés arrival to the present. Students will analyze plays and performances that stage the Spanish Conquest, consider the theatrical procedures of the conquest and examine theatrical representation as a methodology of conquest in the Americas.

TAPS 1650. 21st Century American Drama.
Course is designed to familiarize students with contemporary American playwriting from 2000-2005. We will explore how these plays reflect our current moment with attention to conceptions of gender, sexuality, national identity, trauma and memory. Playwrights may include Jorge Cortinax, Sarah Ruhl, Tony Kushner, Juliana Francis, Sabina Berman, and Carl Hancock Rux.

TAPS 1670. Latino/a Theatre and Performance.
This course will be an introduction to Latino/a theatre concentrating on the following themes: borders, diaspora and exile, political and personal identities, sexuality, gender and violence, and latino re-imaginations of U.S. and Latin history. We will read Chicano/a, Cuban American and Nuyorican drama and performance art. No prerequisites.

TAPS 1680. Performance, Politics, and Engagement.
A survey course in engaged and political performance; this seminar investigates social practice, political theatre, and dance as points of entry into contemporary questions in ecology, ethics, gender, racialization, sexuality, perception, labor, and value. Course materials include artists' and scholars' writings as well as scores, scripts, theoretical writings, photographs, films, reenactments, and performance procedures. Assignments include research projects on art and social movements, performance tasks, and scholarly writing projects. An existing performance or arts practice is not required. The course may be especially relevant to TAPS students, the Engaged Scholars Program, and Visual Art. There are no prerequisites.

TAPS 1690. Performance, Art, and Everyday Life.
Provides an introduction to performance-based art. Some knowledge of the historical avant-garde is required. The class will explore site-specific work, time-based work, life art, body art, instruction art and a variety of intermedial artwork. Theories of “theatricality” and “performativity” will be explored as will expressive properties of repetition, excess, mimesis, banality, mobility, framing, failure and shock. Enrollment limited to 16.

This course will be an introduction to dramaturgy for MFA Actors, Directors and Playwrights and advanced undergraduates. The course will introduce a wide variety of play and critical approaches to dramatic texts and performances with emphasis on culturally divergent dramaturgies, embodied dramaturgy, adaptation and textual analysis for performance.

TAPS 2100. Seminar in Performance Studies and Theatrical Theory.
Key texts in Performance Studies and Theatre Theory selected from works by ancient, modern, and contemporary philosophers, dramatists, performers, and theorists. Covers basic methodological trends crucial to thinking about mimesis and alterity, acting and actants, identity formation and disidentification, decolonial theory and feminist theory in relationships to the study of performance, performativity, drama and theatricality. Enrollment limited to 20.

TAPS 2120. Revolution as a Work of Art.
A study of Russian revolutionary culture and new personhood, ca. 1905-1930, with readings from Russian fiction, philosophy, art criticism, dramatic and political theory, and cultural and theatre history. Topics include the revolution of the spirit, the culture of the future, iconography and spectacle, charismatic authority, and revolutionary terror. For graduate students and qualified juniors and seniors. All readings are in English. Those who can may read some materials in Russian. Enrollment limited to 20.
TAPS 2200A. Abstraction and Resistance
A study of the uses of abstraction in modernist and postmodern theatre and drama, film, painting, and narrative fiction and of the engagement of resistance as a performative strategy for conceptualizing such nominally unframed and alogical texts. The works of selected theatre directors and playwrights, philosophers and theorists, novelists, filmmakers, and artists are examined and discussed.

TAPS 2200B. Neoliberalism and Performance
This course will explore the relationship between performance (dance, theatre, performance art, public art) and Neoliberal economic and governmental policies and practices. We will place special emphasis on how the arts participate in modes of labor flexibility, globalization, entrepreneurship, governmentality and surveillance as well as how these forms critique these phenomenon. Critical readings will include political theory, play and performance texts and videos and economic theory.

TAPS 2200E. Historiography
This graduate seminar is dedicated to a thorough examination of theater and performance historiography. The course will consider methodologies of writing about the past, concentrating on analyzing the writing of history and examining how historical information is obtained, imagined and disseminated in our field, where embodied practice is crucial to thinking. This course will necessarily consider how historiography is understood with the discipline of history as well as performance and theatre studies.

TAPS 2200G. Performance, Photography, and the Live Border
What are the limits of approaching live performance as essentially ephemeral? What is at stake in the lines drawn between media histories and theatre histories that account for the "still"? Questions such as these will be posed across media as we explore histories of photography and tableaux vivant, as well as critical theories in performance studies, visual studies, art history, media studies, and theatre studies. We will look at images documenting violence, images re-presenting documented violence, and violence to documentary images in the course of a broader conversation about the "life" or "liveness" of the still. Enrollment limited to 20.

TAPS 2200L. Wittgenstein, Writing and Performance
Performance is the ideal forum in which to discuss Wittgenstein’s philosophy, especially as the latter involves rigorous close reading of the physical and metaphysical identities of words, thought and action in the construction of discernible and livable roles and courses of action and understanding within the given circumstances of the mysterious world into which we are born. Wittgenstein’s aphoristic writing, which creates a poetic structure, along with the necessary incompleteness of Wittgenstein’s thought expression and the wide range of philosophical interpretations of his work by numerous artists and theorists underscore the liveliness of Wittgenstein’s writing as creative texts in themselves. Enrollment limited to 17 juniors, seniors, and graduate students. Instructor permission required.

TAPS 2200N. Liveness: Performance and Neoanimism in Late Capitalism
Has the "affect economy’s" 24/7 live shifted medial maps distinguishing live from object arts? As animacy and inanimacy warp, do orientations to duration, participation, and relation shift? Can liveness extend to the Paleolithic in today’s "new materialist" imaginary? If "Cinema is Dead," does it join theatre as a zombie form? Modernist "animism," "tonemism," and "primitivism" provide a backdrop to recent returns to animism in Chen, Bennet, Latour and others. Does theatre’s separation from ritual and possession demand rethinking via "relationscapes" and the critical turn to affect theory? Art/performance, theatre, cinema will be under discussion, from Euripides Bacchae to Gucci Bacchae.

TAPS 2300A. Pedagogy: Prep and Practice
In the second year of the three-year MFA Playwriting Program, students are required to teach undergraduates Introductory and Intermediate Playwriting. This course readies MFAs for their teaching in advance of their time at the head of the classroom, provides them with mentorship during the conduct of their teaching, and assesses their experience at the end of their assignments. It is an intensive seminar, where the head of the Playwriting Program meets with students individually and as a team, sharing in the evolutions of curricular design and practice, offering close comment and tailored assignments (suggested readings; writing tasks).

TAPS 2300E. Historiography
This graduate seminar is dedicated to a thorough examination of theater and performance historiography. TAPS 2500. Acting, Brown/Trinity Rep Consortium
This course is open only to students of the Consortium. It will include fundamental exercises, textual analysis, rehearsal techniques, character and scene work designed to provide the student actor with a working method based upon the general principles of the Stanislavskian system. A major part of this course will include rehearsal and performance responsibilities.

TAPS 2505. Fundamentals of Acting: Modern and Contemporary Realism
This course will cover three modalities. Acting/Scene Study: Realism will provide a fundamental understanding of Stanislavski-based acting within the realistic style, developing a working understanding of a five-week rehearsal process; a system of text analysis based upon events and cause-and-effect; beginning the work of integrating vocal and physical technique into each individual student’s acting method. Voice and Speech I will provide the basis of the actor’s three years of vocal training, gaining an understanding of the actor’s personal vocal blocks as they relate to how the breath resides in the body. Contact Improvisation will investigate improvisation movement through physical contact.

TAPS2505 S01 17510 Arranged (B. McEleney)
This course is open only to students of the Consortium. It will provide a progression of exercises to free, develop and strengthen the voice as the actor’s instrument. The classes focus on relaxation, physical awareness, breath, freeing the channel for sound developing the resonators, releasing the voice from the body, articulation, self-expression, and the link to text and acting.
Fall TAPS2510 S01 11271 Arranged (J. Feliciano-Sanchez Moser)

All Voice and Speech work has two underlying goals: for the actor to be heard; for the actor to be understood. A daily warmup, rigorous drilling, the learning of IPA, and its application in Standard American dialect will build muscle to strengthen your instrument for clarity of speech and train your ear to the nuances of speech sounds, invaluable for dialect and character work. The Alexander Technique uses gentle guidance to enable movement to take place unencumbered by habitual effort. Voice, Speech and Alexander work together to enable the actor to produce clear, tension-free sound.
